TERRA BELLA LAND SALE GOES INTO SECOND STAGE WITH BID OPENING MONDAY

TERRA BELLA, Feb. 5—Second stage of the Terra Bella Irrigation district land sale will be coming up next Monday morning when directors of the district meet at 10 a. m. to open bids for land parcels on which more than one offer was received at last Monday's first land sale session.

Involved will be 24 parcels, all | of which carried from two to 12 mitted bids at the original land offers at the initial bid opening. and all combinations of offers, Directors will consider all offers then announce the accepted offers on Tuesday, February 10.

Deadline for submitting the new offers is 10 a. m., February 9; district directors can accept what they consider the best when district directors have set 10 a. m. as the deadline to receive sealed bids for parcels on which there were no offers at the first bidding. Involved are 23 of the original 56 parcels put on the market.

The original minimum bid price will be retained on these parcels; the highest bidder gets the land, if there are identical bids, then verbal bidding will be allowed between the persons who

SAUCELITO VOTES YES:

PORTERVILLE, Feb. 5-Voters within the Saucelito Irrigation district said "Yes", to a proposal to construct a $4,712,500 water distribution system through use of Public Law 130, interest-free federal funds when they went to the polls Tuesday, while several irrigation districts in the area elected directors.

The Saucelito vote cleared the way for final engineering studies. and actual construction work after two more hurdles: The district contract must be validated in Superior court, usually only a formality, and the boys in Washington must make the loan money available.

Tuesday was also Irrigation board member election day, however, under a new law, if there was no contest directors were not obligated to call an election.

At Terra Bella, the board was not changed, although John Oltmans received 17 write-in votes; in the Lower Tule Irrigation district, Fred Miller was retained by a 32-26 vote against William Silveira, a former board member; Gordon, assisted by Bill Dye and in the Tulare district, Incumbent board member, Robert Taggard

Directors who have been renamed to irrigation boards without contest include: Edwy Luker through the Tulare County Farm and Allen Sanborn, Porterville district: A. B. Enos Jr. and Roscoe E. Smith, Pixley; Steve D. Ferrero and E. L. Cloer, Saucelito;

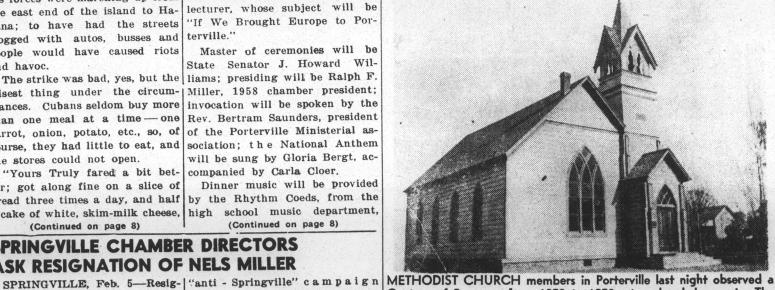

State Said To Be Taking New Look At Camp Sites

SPRINGVILLE, Feb. 5 — The state of California is taking a new look at possible sites for a proposed Conservation camp for 80 honor prisoners, according to Hugh Gordon, who recently went to Sacramento to confer on the matter with DeWitt Nelson, director of natural resources.

Statements from the department had previously pretty well pinned down a location for the camp-along Bear creek about a mile and a half below the present Balch park installation.

However, Gordon reports that several sites are being considered, among them the Harris Brothers sawmill property in Springville, the Oak Opening area above

TRANSCRIBED COMMENTS BY GOVERNOR PAT BROWN ON THE CALIFORNIA WATER PLAN

Heard

WE have filed our nominacouncil.

WHY?

WELL, IT'S really pretty simple. We have been critical of certain phases of present city administration. Having been critical, we feel that we should offer for a council seat.

CERTAINLY, OUR idea is not to tear down anything, not to "tie the can" to anyone. We just have a sort of old-fashioned belief that certain basic principles of government must be defended at all levels, and if an individual happens to be at a level ities. where he can do some defending, then he should do it.

SPECIFICALLY, WE believe that under provisions of the Porterville City Charter, five coun-City of Porterville. Therefore, five councilmen should do the But don't stop yet, dautions job-and no less than five. Furbelieve that when public funds are involved people on the public payroll should earn the money ther, further, we believe that public administration involves proper planning, long and short term; a well-established channel College Students of communication from city council to those persons who must accomplish the work; a system by which every activity of the city is accounted for and is accounted; basic policies through which everyone receives identical treatment in matters pertaining to city-citizen relationship.

AND OF course, we beleve that for the tax dollars spent, those persons paying the tax dollar are entitled to best possible value from their expenditure.

IN BROAD terms, we can say that since three generations of our family have made Porterville their home, and since we expect to spend the rest of our lives here, and since there is some possibility that our two daughters may spend their lives in Porterville, we, as a city councilman, will do those things that we honestly believe will keep Porterville a real fine place in which to live.

SO THERE you have it. might have briefed the above into much simpler phrases. We might have said that our idea of public office evolves around those historic, and basic words that government must be "of the people, by the people and for the people.

California State Legislature

Now that the Governor has submitted the budget and his tax recommendations, the tempo of our legislative actions has stepped up considerably. Under the new law approved by the voters last November, the budget bill is the only measure which can be reviewed immediately in committee without special action of the of the whole house.

No one was particularly surprised by the size of the budget total-$2 billion, 188 million. Up about 9 per cent over appropriations for the current year, the budget request again sets a new high for all the states in the na-

As might have been expected, reaction to the recommendation for an annual total of $256 million in new and additional taxes was mixed. There are those among us who agree with the Governor that additional revenue is needed now. There are also those who feel equally strongly that judicious use of existing reserves, plus economy in appropriations for the operating expenses of our state government, will make new taxes unnecessary.

Consideration of the budget bill will be a lengthy and laborious process. On the Assembly side, the ways and means committee will break itself down into a number of sub-committees, each of which will hold hearings on the budget items for one department, or one function within a department. Many hours of patient review will be needed before each sub-group can report its findings to the full committee, and more time will elapse before the whole bill reaches the floor of the Assembly for a vote on passage.

THE REPORT OF THE PROPERTY OF

nance committee will pursue a similar course in its consideration of the budget.

To assist the committees and their sub-groups in the review process will be two task forces of budget specialists, one from the department of finance, and the other from our own legislative analyst's office. A detailed examination of the whole budget will be prepared by the analyst, and printed copies of it will be given to every member of the legislature for information and use.

Spokesmen for the fnance department will explain, and when necessary defend the budget items. Specialists from the legislative analyst's staff may concur in their recommendatons, in which case there is ordinarily no debate over the items involved. When differences between the two agencies do exist, they are thoroughly explored by the commit-

Other committees, the revenue and tax groups of the Senate and Assembly will consider the proposals for new and increased taxes. They, too, will have the advice and assistance of specialists from the finance department and our legislative staff. If past experience can be trusted as a guide, the hearings of these tax committees will attract much greater attendance from the public than those on the budget itself. There will also probably be much greater public participation in the discussion of the various tax proposals.

This detailed study and action on both the spending program and the taxes needed to pay for it is perhaps the most important function of the legislature. Many people do not stop to think that

Q. "I am an elderly person and have had several attacks of shingles. What is the cause and what can be done?"—Mrs. B.E. A. Shingles is the common name for herpes zoster, a virus-caused disease, which attacks the roots of certain nerves. Blisters form on the skin above the virus-injured nerve. The spaces between the ribs are very often affected. The blisters break after a time, leaving raw surfaces which scab over and heal slowly. The pain of and heat slowly. The pain of herpes zoster is especially bothersome in older persons—less so in youngsters. A variety of treatment methods have been used, with good results in some cases not so good in others. Persons who suffer repeated herpes are sometimes vaccinated with smallpox vaccine. This may stop the attacks when other things have failed. The severe pain and dis-comfort of herpes zoster can be lessened by use of sedatives and pain relieving drugs prescribed by the physician.

Q. Just how do viruses cause disease?

A. By affecting tissue cells. One variety of virus can injure nerve cells, as happens in shingles and in polio, another may injure the liver, as in hepatitis. The body probably harbors one or more viruses all the time. Nothing may develop until some "shock" comes virus takes over. This happens with the flu virus in hogs. The virus seems to be present in the animals all the time but they develop flu only under certain stress conditions. Give the hogs a "shock" and the whole herd comes down with influenza.

Q. "Several friends have given up smoking but I can't. What's the reason?"—A chain smoker.

A. The ability to stop smoking is apparently related to the amount of tobacco previously consumed. of tobacco previously consumed. One study showed that men (and presumably women) who average 10 cigarettes a day can stop, those who smoke 18 cigarettes a day don't try, and those who smoke 20 or more cigarettes daily are seldom able to stop. Probably some 18-a-day men can stop if they try. There may be other reasons why some people can't stop smoking but how does this amount-per-day idea fit your case?

Answers do not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician. Questions directed to Science Editors, P.O. Box 396, Madison Sq. Sta., N. Y. 10, N. Y. will be incorporated in these columns when possible.

OUR

By Gardner (Bud) Wheeler

WE SEE BY THE PAPERS that a new election contest is in the offing for the citizens of the The City Council Sweepstakes. Several hardy individuals have indicated a desire to run and are circulating petitions round and about for signatures and X's. There is no exact qualification for membership of this body, but a quick glance reveals certain abilities that are very helpful. Seemingly a Councilman must always assume he is in the wrong. No matter what he decides, there is always a segment of the locals that is against it. He should have the hide of a very ancient hippopotamus to withstand the slings and arrows aimed in his general direction. Too, he should have an unwavering enthusiasm for hard work, because this will be his main reward. Under such circumstances, it is hard to decide who the lucky one is in such an election; the winner or the loser.

THE PECULIAR THING ABOUT elections is the number of people who fail to vote. Apparently, the necessity of making such a positive decision as marking an X in a certain square is more than some can stand. Yet, it is often those who fail to vote on some issue that get the most vocal about it-later. Of course, there isn't the excitement that used to attend the old time elections. We read in history books, though not the kind that they use in schools, we hope, that election days in early times were quite a ball. The voting was often done out of doors. The voter would cast his vote aloud, and the candidate of his choice would promptly reward him with a dipper of mountain dew kept handy for the occasion. This was a reward, not a bribe. Or, possibly the voter would be unable to talk after a shot of this medical treatment. Maybe if this old time custom were revived, there would be more interest at the polls.

WE HAVE SOMETIMES BEEN accused of being interested in only schools, sports and oranges, and that this preoccupation flavors our column. Just what an orange flavored column would be like is anybody's guess, but our admirer didn't dwell on that slight detail. We will admit we like sports and on occasion have had to defend this liking in debates with the less muscular minded. The other night, while readng that very slick sports magazine, Sports Illustrated, we ran across an editorial defending sports in general. The writer pointed out that in no other field of endeavor is success so dependent on self-improvement as in sports. Whether it's team play or individual play, each individual works to improve, or he eventually gives up sports. So in a world of short cuts, quick deals, angles and pressures, it's refreshing to find something that stresses the virtues of hard work and improvement the way sports do. So, yours for more muscle flexing.

PIRATES OPEN SECOND HALF BASKETBALL PLAY AGAINST FRESNO RAMS SATURDAY

Satan's evil tools were displayed: Joe Kelly's Fresno City College

Coach Dick Weist's Pirate quintet has a .500 average in league play to date. Their first half wins included victories over Taft and Reedley and a major upset win over Coalinga. They lost a 60-58 decision to Fresno in a league opener, and took their lumps from Allan Hancock and College of the Sequoias, the 1-2 teams at the end of the first six games.

The Pirates are anxious to redeem themselves against Fresno, a team they led until the closing minutes in the first meeting. Porterville will have a height advantage over the Rams, but the Kelly men will have a speed edge.

Last Friday night, the Pirates started fast and held on for a 61-56 victory over Reedley on the Tigers' court. They didn't have the steam on Saturday night and took a 20-point beating from Coach Polly Wilhelmsen's COS Giants on the Visalia court. The Giants started fast and the Pirates couldn't ever come close.

Tall Titus White, the 6-9, 150pound Pirate center, and Ed Vondrak, the sharpshooting guard, continue to set the scoring pace for the Pirates. White teams with Leugene Simpson for re-

Daybell Nursery By John

Last year we could tell whenever a weekend arrived because it usually rained Saturday and Sunday. This year without rain we're completely lost. In fact we look out some days and think summer has already arrived. Evidently our customers are also confused because they're planting the things now we usually wouldn't sell until March or April.

Fortunately we have many of these things in stock and can provide you with tomatoes, peppers, citrus trees, spring flowering shrubs, corn seed, and bedding plants. However, we wish you would give serious thought to some shade trees because it looks like a long, hot summer. This may be one of those years the horned toads lie on their backs and blow on their feet to keep cool.

Along with this warm spell it becomes necessary to prune your fruit trees and roses immediately. In fact, if you could do it yesterday it wouldn't be any too soon. New lawns can be planted this month, old lawns re-seeded and fertilized, the back porch painted, and your wife's car washed. These last two have nothing to do with gardening but set you up for an early trip to the mountains. Those hills look better every year and while they may build too many roads through them they'll be a long time leveling them off.

We now discover that those Russian wild pigs that were unofficially released near Dunlap, Fresno county, have spread to the Sequoia National Forest which, of course, is open to hunting. Forest rangers are very much concerned as to the damage the pigs will do to the watershed. Maybe the forest service will work out a special hunt to reduce the damage that apparently is already showing up.

Walter Puhn, supervisor, Sierra National Forest (adjacent to Sequoia) related some interesting comparable figures to us the other day. Some 25 years ago this particular forest reported 100 big horn sheep on the forest, now there are none. A population of 25,000 deer 25 years ago compared to 56,000 now. same time, Mr. Wilder has something to say, which makes high-Iv interpretive directing and acting a must, or a Mr. Wilder cast ends up short of its goal.

A farce can be defined as a light dramatic composition of satirical or humorous cast, in which great latitude is allowed as to probability of happenings and naturalness of characters; and with it all there is an element of broad humor.

In order for cast to get out of a farce the things that a writer such as Mr. Wilder puts into it, said cast must carry a real load of acting ability, and a complete understanding of just what is being accomplished,

If it is possible to briefly summarize, we might say that in a successful farce, the wide range of probability must seem to be not completely improbable; there is, here and there, perhaps a touch of the slapstick; there must be a naturalness within the unnaturalness: there must be a certain amount of tongue-in-cheek acting, yet the tongue must not stick out; and, at the crucial

This is a pretty big order, but that's the order one accepts when one accepts a Thornton Wilder play. And the Barn does not quite wrap up the order in its Matchmaker.

Certainly, when we saw the show last Saturday night, there was excellent crowd responsewhich after all is a highly important thing in any theater. Yet, with the exception of Eldon Hunt, who has proved that he can do just about anything on the stage. and do it well, the cast generally seems to be on the edge of understanding, but only on the edge.

Elizabeth Dobson, one of the Barn's fine troupers and a Hosscar winner several times, gets laughs in this one, but she is not up to her best performances; the rest of the cast just doesn't quite reach the difficult level of a Wilder farce.

This is not to say that The Matchmaker is a bad show. It is not that. The show is just not as good as it has a potential to be. But may we again state that the crowd liked this one.

Along with Mr. Hunt and Mrs. Dobson, balance of the cast does a good job, but, as we have indicated, not a completely understanding job. Included are: Duane McKinnon, Wilbur Stover. Clarence Newman, Kathie Hanson, Ronnica Rather, Philip Nesbit, Charles Hare, Louise Graham. Pauline Enders, Hanspeter Lauber, Eric Hanson, Gil Strauch and Kay McKay.

If we sound a bit contradictory, we'll have to admit that this is
